

Grain Growers Warned Saskatchewan Faces Grasshopper Plague

By George Forster

REGINA, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Storm warnings are flying along Saskatchewan's farm front and official statements say Canada's greatest wheat-producing province faces its biggest plague of grasshoppers in eight years.

Hordes of the voracious insects swept the wheatlands last year, leaving millions of eggs in ditches and stubbled fields. Farm officials warn that if control measures can stop them from weakening more than in 1940.

Official forecasts warned the heavy southwesterly-creeching from North Battleford some 300 miles south to the American border and from Alberta to the west through Estevan, Regina and Saskatoon about normal numbers.

Forecast show a light infestation in the east but say only extensive use of poison bait—a mixture of sodium arsenite, sawdust and bran—can save southwestern crops from heavy damage.

DESPITE WIDESPREAD drought last year, providing ideal conditions for the stubble grasshopper, which nests in dried-out stubble after harvest, the biggest danger this year is the roadside grasshopper which nests in grassy ditches and sloughs. Tillage methods, useful in fighting the stubble hopper, are little help against the roadside hopper which can be in nesting spots.

Prairie folklore records that if hungry enough, hoppers can eat anything in their path—from weeds on the roadside to the heads of farmers who will attest that after a year of ripening crops disappeared in the wake of record hordes during the 20's.

Few people will hazard a guess at annual grasshopper damage on the plains but most who have seen it claim it is the most devastating pest in the west. The damage is usually more numerous after a drought. Farm officials say, too, that constant vigilance is needed, and last control measures in one year may mean a plague the next.

Russia on Pact

The Russians would not charge up later with war documents, it was announced that the documents, which the Russians claim to have captured in Germany, would be published in a special volume. The date was not given.

And, lastly, the statement added, it was proposed to strengthen a political agreement between Britain and Germany by an economic agreement which would include a German loan.

Three-Power Conference Postponed

By HOMER JENKS

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(BUP)—The opening of an American-Anglo-French conference on the future of Germany, a meeting denounced in advance by Russia, was postponed today from next Thursday until the following Monday.

The delay was attributed to a desire for the United States to re-evaluate its position in Washington through the week while Congress considered the European recovery program.

Russia had charged in a formal protest to the three western powers that the meeting would violate the Potsdam agreement, without the participation of the Soviet Union.

The United States government would not yet know what steps were necessary to carry out the Potsdam agreement, said Secretary Marshall said Sunday.

His comment on the situation was in a letter addressed to a group of 30 house of representatives members. Marshall said the meeting was made public by Rep. Jacob V. Aron, N.Y.

THE CONGRESSMEN had asked Marshall four questions they considered pertinent to the United Nations. The questions were: "What is the purpose of the meeting?" "What is the purpose of the meeting?" "What is the purpose of the meeting?" "What is the purpose of the meeting?"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(CP)—A suggestion that Canada may have overstrained her economic capacity in her loan to Britain and that some of her financing of exports to Britain may be shifted to the United States was contained in a report Saturday of the house of representatives committee on foreign aid.

THE REPORT, DEALING with the question of avoiding a "credit crunch" in administering foreign aid, said that western hemisphere countries should not be beyond their means. "Canada has already pointed to this participation," the report said. "It is the only country to do so."

The committee is headed by Rep. Charles McNary (R-Ind.). It also has on its staff a number of representatives of the business community. McNary said that the committee's report was a "wake-up call" to the government.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP)—President Truman has made personal and direct appeal to other governments for "constraint in dealing with the Palestine situation."

His secretary, Charles G. Bohlen, said in a brief statement. "In an effort to prevent the spread of disorder in the Middle East, the United States is stressing the importance, in the recent months, of addressing appeals to the United Nations and the Arab League, and of restraining in dealing with the Palestine situation some of these appeals were made directly by the president."

Business Spotlight Leveling Off Of Prices Shown

By The Canadian Press

The last few months have shown a number of signs of leveling off of prices—quite aside from the current United States commodity price situation—have been observed by the rise in the price of food.

The signs have been showing in the leveling of advertisements, the return to a more normal rate of business in many of the lines of business, and in the leveling of prices in the price of food.

For the Blind

The campaign for $100,000 to erect in this city a Northern Alberta Service Centre and Residence for the Blind has opened in Edmonton.

The building will be maintained and operated through the funds of the Community Chest. This special appeal is necessary because it has been shown that the public does not wish to contribute towards capital expenditures in Community Chest drives. And the building of this structure calls for, of course, for capital expenditures.

The campaign, then, is no more than an essential extension of the Community Chest principle. It is complementary to the Community Chest and in complete accord with it.

The details of this new building and the purpose it will serve have been discussed at length elsewhere. Everyone is familiar, or should be, with the need for such a building and the excellent function it will perform.

Generous contribution to the drive hinges on that, good citizenship and compassion without which no city can be said to have reached adulthood.

Free Hospital Beds

If the federal grants called for under the Dominion-provincial tax agreement become available within the next year, every sick person in Alberta may be entitled to occupy a bed in a hospital without having to pay anything for it. This very interesting announcement is made by Dr. C. Ross, provincial minister of health. There are unanimous hopes that the grants may come along without delay and free hospitalization become an accomplished fact.

One result is foreseeable. There will have to be a veritable campaign of hospital-building in order to provide the increased accommodation required. Most people stay at home when attacked by the flu or some other ailment not classed as really serious, because hospital charges run into expense. But if beds become free, almost every person will head for a hospital when assailed by even a minor sickness.

Despite the expense involved, hospitals in the province are usually crowded at present, frequently to capacity, sometimes beyond what is considered the proper limit of accommodation. If the expense barrier is removed, there will be need of more hospital space and more beds—and of scores of new buildings, in centres and at remote points.

Saying It Out Loud

Faced by a party rebellion against the policy of wages, Sir Stafford Cripps announced that price in Britain are to be rolled back to December-January levels. This advance assurance of price stability, he hopes, will reconcile the Labor forces to the idea of not demanding higher pay.

Should this fail to win the objectors to a voluntary stand-pat plan, Sir Stafford warned them, there will have to be compulsory freezing of both prices and wages. The "logic of facts" would compel that.

Some members of Canada's House of Commons should feel embarrassed by the frankness of Britain's Socialist "zeal of industry." They have been carrying lustily for control of prices, but only whisper that "if necessary" wages might also be pegged. Sir Stafford doesn't hedge the point. He tells 6,000,000 Laborers clamoring for more pay that prices and wages have to go up together or be frozen together. If they get more they will have to pay more.

In Canada the public—including organized Laborers—know that well enough. But in Parliament the hot advocates of price-control have shied away from the fact that prices can't be controlled unless wages are also controlled. Their faces should be red as they hear Sir Stafford shouting this truism from the house.

A Dangerous Proposal

The chamber of commerce agrees with the bylaws committee of the city council that a four-year term for Edmonton aldermen is not desirable. So far as the discussion has gone therefore the "nays" seem to have R.

In what way the city would be advantaged by electing aldermen for four years, and holding elections only every second year, has not been made clear. That there would be disadvantages in the arrangement is plain enough.

That biennial elections would weaken voter-control over the council is obvious. That it would reduce public interest in civic affairs is almost a certainty. And since only a minority of voters bother to go to the polls when elections are held every year, anything that would still further divert their attention from the conduct of the city's business would be deplorable.

Nor could the effect be good if council were given two-year immunity from an expression of taxpayer opinion. At present council receives each year a verdict—a minority verdict it is true—as to whether the management of the city's affairs is satisfactory or otherwise. To double the length of time between verdicts would deprive the council of anything resembling a continuous touch with popular reaction.

Given this aloofness from taxpayer opinion and direction, it is fanciful to suppose the city would be better governed. The long-range tendency would be the other way. At best, council would be left to guess over a two-year period what the voters thought about its policies. At the worst, there would be a far better opportunity to consolidate cliques, put over facts and pet schemes by gumbush tactics—and trust that the electors would forget before the remote election-day came round.

The Thunder in Manchuria

Nationalist forces are on the retreat in Manchuria and the Communist armies are in fair way to capture Mukden, capital of the province. The Nationalists had massed men and equipment there for a showdown battle, the outcome of which, they said, would be decisive. Apparently they have lost, and in losing the battle have lost the campaign and perhaps the province.

It is certain that this momentous victory was won by a rabble of impoverished and underfed coolies fighting with pitchforks and sticks and muzzle-loading guns. It could only be won by disciplined, organized, well-directed troops, equipped with planes, tanks, cannon, efficient rifles and all the paraphernalia of modernized big-scale warfare.

Where are these things coming from, along with the supplies and transport necessary to an army fighting on a wide front against a trained and well-equipped enemy holding a vitally important position? Certainly not from democratic countries. Such supplies as are coming to China are going to the Nationalists. There is only one other source for the arms and other military necessities which have enabled the Communist forces to push back Chiang Kai-Shek's army.

Some weeks ago the Russian representative on the Allied War East Council at Tokyo refused to say what had been done to the equipment and stores which fell into Russian hands when the Japanese North China army surrendered. The news from Manchuria supplies the answer, almost beyond question.

The evidence is circumstantial but it is that the thunder in Manchuria is the thunder of Japanese guns—now in possession of the Communists.

Gen. Tedford Foster, under the heading of "conspiracy to wage aggressive war," and the "unlawful use of war and its aftermath."

What makes me angry and the trial a force which there is post-facto justice, but that though three years have elapsed since the war, there is still no law against waging any kind of war. There are no conventions of war. There is no definition, even of aggression, and all the assertions of law nations dating from more primitive centuries are being abused every day.

Conspiracy
When the first of these trials opened, the United States army was already in possession of the documents pertaining to the German war pact. They proved that German actively participated in the conspiracy to conquer and divide Europe.

Too Much Progress

MR. MILQUETOAST, JUST BEFORE LEAVING TOWN FOR TWO WEEKS, HAD PUT A SIGN ON HIS GARAGE DOOR.

Every time another set of German war criminals comes up for trial I find myself getting very angry. Field Marshal Johannes Blaskowitz escaped the fate by shooting himself, but Field Marshal Ritter von Leeb and others are facing Brigg.

Gen. Tedford Foster, under the heading of "conspiracy to wage aggressive war," and the "unlawful use of war and its aftermath."

What makes me angry and the trial a force which there is post-facto justice, but that though three years have elapsed since the war, there is still no law against waging any kind of war. There are no conventions of war. There is no definition, even of aggression, and all the assertions of law nations dating from more primitive centuries are being abused every day.

Conspiracy
When the first of these trials opened, the United States army was already in possession of the documents pertaining to the German war pact. They proved that German actively participated in the conspiracy to conquer and divide Europe.

Olson's McLaws Takes Alberta Consols

Olson Rink Loses Rubber Game 1-5

Bill (Scotty) McLaws and his Glenora Club rink from Calgary will represent the province of Alberta in the playoff for the Macdonald Brier Tankard which opens in Calgary March 1.

Winners of the South Alberta section, the Calgarians defeated E. B. (Ole) Olson of Edmonton's Royal Club, representing the north, 12-10 in the first and 11-5 in the third game of the best of three British Columbia final Saturday. Olson won the second 13-11.

McLaws came from behind three times to win the morning game. The Royal skip picked up one in the first, but McLaws got a pair on the next end, only to see Olson go ahead 4-3 on the third.

TWO ON the fourth end the Calgarians ahead again and they were up 8-3 when Olson passed out. McLaws' shot to count four and go on 9-4 on the ninth. "Scotty" won about again with two on the 10th and stayed in front.

The fifth was an interesting and Walker made a lovely rally to tie. McLaws' game was a little short as his first stone, but made a difficult angle to move Olson's stone with his second. Olson made a fine draw and just barely missing counting.

OLSON PASSED up a chance two on the seventh. He was trying one with his last rock still to come, but was short. McLaws almost duplicated in the 8th, when he too was short on a draw and counted a singleton.

The Royal curlers played the sixth end well and Olson's last rock kicked out McLaws' draw for a cluster of four.

McLaws counted a pair on the 10th, but he was just a trifle late for his first rock was narrowly and raised out of his own directly and Olson's shot stuck and left the Calgarians in a difficult position to get at.

Olson had a chance to count on the 11th, but the skip threw the house, leaving McLaws with a pair.

THE ROYAL SKIP got away to good starts in the 12th end and collecting four in the first end and he was never headed. He held an

"It's Wonderful," Says Champ Barb Breezes to Victory In World Skating Classic

By Jack Sullivan
DAVOS PLATZ, Switzerland, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott yesterday wound up her 1948 European figure-skating campaign with her third major success in a row, retaining the world title she won last year at Stockholm.

The twice-winning European champion and Canada's first winner of the Olympic figure-skating gold medal was a "thrilled and happy" girl as she rested in her dressing room following the free skating performance which clinched the world championship.

It's WONDERFUL, she said. She and the two other Canadian skaters, Marilyn Buxton and Suzanne Morrow, both of Toronto, were all in hearty agreement on one point: they are eager to get back to Canada and skate on "good" ice again. Miss Scott placed 12th and Miss Morrow 13th in the world championship.

In winning, Barbara Ann skated with her familiar poise and artistry despite the slippery ice surface, which Saturday caused postponement of the last two compulsory figures.

After the compulsory figures were finished yesterday, the 15-year-old Ottawa girl, whirled through a four-minute, free-skating routine to hold her title safe from 19 rivals representing eight countries.

CLAD in a white costume trimmed with silver, Barbara Ann shouldered K.A.C.'s in the fourth match of a best-of-five City Junior Hockey League final series at the Edmonton arena Tuesday night.

The men's world title as well as the Olympic League, Miss Scott's total was 1,601.1.

Two place went to 15-year-old Irina Nikolaeva of Czechoslovakia with 1,584 points. The British champion, 17-year-old Jeanette Altwegg of Liverpool, scored 1,578.4.

She went to 15th in the 15-year-old category, 1,568.7. Yvonne Sherwood of New York, 1,523.7, despite a fall.

WHEN it was over, the fans gave Barbara Ann a thunderous ovation, pouring on to the ice to offer her congratulations, chocolates and handshakes.

Smilingly she greeted them all and signed countless books and papers for the autograph hunters.

Then she turned to the rink and was Dick Button, the 15-year-old skater from Englewood, N.J., who won the men's world title as well as the Olympic League.

Barbara Ann's total was 1,601.1. She went to 15th in the 15-year-old category, 1,568.7. Yvonne Sherwood of New York, 1,523.7, despite a fall.

Mr. King said Canadians now "await your return to accord you a truly national welcome," and Mr. Lewis cautioned her to "rest up for your homecoming."

Native Sons Cop Playoff Opener

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Lethbridge Native Sons took a one-game lead in the Southern Alberta Junior Hockey League playoffs Saturday night as they trounced Calgary 10-4 in the opening game of a best-of-seven final series. Second game will be played at Medicine Hat tonight.

Play was closer than the top scores would indicate, with occasional defensive lapses by the Calgary side allowing Sons to pile up their big lead.

Ramsden, Mason and Murphy were the Sons' stars, with Ramsden collecting a pair of tallies and Mason and Murphy each scoring a goal and helping on two others.

Leclair, Evans, Dorey and Brown, the other players, Calgary goal was scored by Steele in the first period.

Mason carried off the ladies' doubles title to Edmonton with a flawless display of the court game to oust the Calgary duo of Barbara Ann and Helen McFerran of Calgary in straight sets 15-8, 15-3.

The ladies' doubles title, which was combined with the doubles competition of Calgary to add the men's doubles title to his knicks trophy, was a 15-10, 15-10 victory for Leclair and Bob Horne of Saskatchewan.

CLAPHAM paired with Barbara Hackney of Calgary for the mixed doubles title, defeating Les McManus and Irma McManus of Edmonton 15-11, 15-11.

Joanne Leeger, 15-year-old shuttle stylist from Saskatoon, breezed through all opposition to capture the ladies' junior singles crown, scoring an easy 15-11, 15-10 victory over Eve Mann of Calgary in the final. John Bock of Calgary trounced Bob Horne, also of Calgary, 15-3, 15-3 for the junior men's title.

Dave Clapham and Barbara Hackney experienced little difficulty in winning the Royal Cup challenge trophy when they turned back Les McManus and Dorey Marshall of Edmonton in two straight sets. The trophy is for competition between mixed doubles teams of Calgary and Edmonton.

"Name" Rinks Thing Of Past in Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The calibre of curling in the Manitoba bonspiel has become so keen that "name" rinks are a thing of the past, in the opinion of such top-ranking Winnipeg curlers as Jimmy Welsh, 1947 Canadian champion, and Ken Watson, twice winner of the Dominion crown.

Never before in the history of the 'spiel, now celebrating its 44th anniversary, has there been such competitive curling, they say, pointing to the records so far this season which show that the rinks picked by the "experts" to represent the Manitobans remain in the hunt.

Both Welsh and Watson, named at the start of the provincial tourneys, had suffered defeat, but both still remain in the provincial title hunt, they readily admit they have had their work cut out for them in the last round of the provincial tourneys.

The next day, two of these rinks dropped games and when play climaxed on Thursday, only 16 rinks of the 44 entered in the world's largest curling tournament remained, and only two—McFadden of Winnipeg and Kinnow and George Hindle of Winnipeg, "Clive-Caledonian" were highly rated when the play opened.

At the close of the play last Thursday, only 16 rinks of the 44 entered in the world's largest curling tournament remained, and only two—McFadden of Winnipeg and Kinnow and George Hindle of Winnipeg, "Clive-Caledonian" were highly rated when the play opened.

Slalom Meet
The cold blanket that hung over the city yesterday—failed to chill the enthusiasm of skiers of the Edmonton Variety and Feline Ski Club, who met for their annual slalom meet at the ski area near the city.

Leafs' Eric Paterson pulled a superb save on Ed May, and on the next play Laubman pulled a terrific block on Ken Watson's breakaway rush.

Mrs. Hubbard Sued $100,000 Damages

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The mother of a 17-year-old newsboy Saturday sued Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, heiress to Rockefeller and McCormick wealth, for $100,000 damages, charging malicious assault and battery.

The suit, filed by Mrs. Linda Garippo on behalf of Silvio Garippo, stated that the youth was permanently disabled and disfigured by "physical violence" on the part of Mrs. Hubbard in a long restaurant altercation early Tuesday. The suit alleged Mrs. Hubbard was "intoxicated."

On the same day, Mrs. Hubbard's lengthy court battle to regain custody of her two adopted children ended with her relinquishing custody to an Evanston couple with whom they have been staying.

Used Auto as Bookie Office, Man Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Police Patrolman Victor Herbert got curious Saturday when he saw a steady stream of people enter and leave an automobile.

He watched the car cruise up and down a downtown street. Periodically, he related later, the car would stop, pick up one or more passengers, and drop them off at the next corner.

Still curious, Herbert climbed in behind one of the short-order riders. He said he found the car equipped with racing forms, scratch sheets and such. The car's driver was booked on suspicion of horse race bookmaking.

Fire Destroys $250,000 Church

ST. FLAVIE DE LEPAGE, Que., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Smoke and periodic flashes of fire-sparks still rose last night from the ruins of the 60-year-old Roman Catholic church of this tiny St. Lawrence shore parish, destroyed yesterday in a $250,000 fire loss.

The parish, 20 miles east of Rimouski, was without water to battle the blaze that broke out at 7 a.m. Fire-fighters summoned from the nearby town of Mont Joli were halted in their efforts to draw water from the St. Lawrence river by a sub-zero temperature that froze the water in the pump and hose.

About noon the belfry and cathedral collapsed, and shortly after the stone walls of the building fell in.

Nice Eye for Color

2-Year-Old Sally Really Did a Job on Painting

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Dorsey Douglas Jr., 11, wanted a portrait of his state's blonde wife, so he induced Artist John Shelby Metcalf to come to Oklahoma from his home in California.

For two weeks Mr. Douglas sat and looked stately for five hours a day and John Shelby worked skillfully in oils.

Those hours of happy toil were often lightened by two-year-old Sally Douglas, youngest of the four Douglas children.

She was doing his brushes. His work was done. He looked upon it, and it was good. He had done more than create a work of art. He had made a convert—young Sally. The young lady viewed the portrait privately. Like so many pupils she was inclined to go a bit beyond the master. Handicapped by the fact that she could not reach beyond her mother's painted midriff, she began to modernize. A few orange rings on the fingers, a yellow "V" for something, and some really admirable corners in yellow and green. John Shelby settled down for several days with cleaning fluid. But these artists stick together. "Don't spack her," he said. "She . . . she does have a nice eye for color."

Health Service New Organization

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Physicians' Services Incorporated, a non-profit organization sponsored by the Ontario Medical Association, was launched officially at the weekend by Health Minister Russell T. Kelley.

Marie Calow, subscriber No. 1, was presented with a year's service subscription by the minister, and five industrial groups became "covered" by the new plan. Dr. Melville C. Watson of Toronto, who heads P.S.I., said about 25 per cent of Ontario's 1,500 doctors are members of the group.

The board has set a rate of $60 a year for a family of any size, allowing a man with as little as $1,500 a year to budget for medical care. A single person pays $18 annual.

Randolph Has Big Lead Over Rival

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—International Typographical Union headquarters here announced Saturday 243 I.T.U. locals have endorsed John Evans of Washington, candidate of the rival Independent party. Endorsement of 20 of the 800 locals is required for nomination. The union members will vote in a referendum election May 18.

Canning Plant Fire
MURRAY RIVER, P.E.I., Feb. 16.—(CP)—The Horton canning plant here was gutted by fire Saturday night. Loss was expected to exceed $50,000.

All subscribers have free choice of doctor.

Held at Gunpoint By Armed Bandit

VANCOUVER, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Held at gunpoint, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Norman and their two young children were terrorized for two hours early Saturday by an armed bandit.

After cutting telephone wires, he entered the Normans' Westview district home through a basement window at 5 a.m., forced the family from their beds, and at 7 a.m. left with a small amount of money. "He must have been crazy," said Norman, who refused details of the kidnapping, and police barred reporters from the house.

The six-foot bandit escaped on a bus, boarding it directly outside the Norman home.

The Empire State Building in New York is 1,250 feet high.
